

POSTDOCTORAL RESEARCH ASSOCIATE
DEPARTMENT OF HUMAN DEVELOPMENT AND FAMILY STUDIES UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS URBANA-CHAMPAIGN

The University of Illinois is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action employer that recruits and hires qualified candidates without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, age, national origin, disability or veteran status. For more information, visit <http://go.illinois.edu/EOO>.

Drs. Jennifer Hardesty and Brian Ogolsky in the Department of Human Development and Family Studies are seeking to fill a three year Postdoctoral Research Associate position to begin in summer of 2022. The postdoctoral scholar will collaborate on an NIJ-funded grant to evaluate the efficacy of a domestic violence training program for legal professionals. This project is part of a collaborative ongoing program of research centered on intimate partner violence, divorce/separation, coparental relationships, and family court experiences. Preference will be given to candidates with expertise or experience in one or more of the following areas: 1) intimate partner violence, family law, family or relationship science; 2) advanced quantitative methods (e.g., randomized control trials, program evaluation) and analysis (e.g., multi-level modeling, longitudinal analysis, and structural equation modeling). The postdoctoral research associate will have opportunities for early career development, including publication and supervision by national leaders in the department of human development and family studies.

Candidates should have completed a doctoral degree in human development/family studies, psychology, or other relevant discipline. We seek applicants with strong methodological and quantitative data analysis skills, writing and communication skills, and the ability to manage a collaborative interdisciplinary team. Additional information about the department may be found at <https://hdfs.illinois.edu/>. Applications will be reviewed beginning January 7, 2022, until the position is filled. Applicants should send a CV, cover letter detailing relevant background and experience, and names and contact information for three references in a single pdf file to: bogolsky@illinois.edu.

The Department of Human Development and Family Studies at the University of Illinois Urbana-Champaign aims to discover, develop, translate, and disseminate knowledge to address societal concerns and train the next generation of experts and leaders. Be a part of our story. Our highly ranked program has a proud history of studying families and human development. We address contemporary social issues that affect children, youth, adults, relationships and families through quality research, teaching, and outreach programs. The Urbana-Champaign community offers a wealth of cultural, intellectual, and recreational opportunities.

Questions regarding the position should be directed to Jennifer Hardesty, Ph.D., hardesty@illinois.edu or Brian Ogolsky, Ph.D., bogolsky@illinois.edu.

University of Illinois faculty, staff and students are required to be fully vaccinated against COVID-19. If you are not able to receive the vaccine for medical or religious reasons, you may seek approval for an exemption in accordance with applicable University processes.

The University of Illinois conducts criminal background checks on all job candidates upon acceptance of a contingent offer. Convictions are not a bar to employment. Other pre-employment assessments may be required, depending on the classification of Civil Service employment.

The University of Illinois System requires candidates selected for hire to disclose any documented finding of sexual misconduct or sexual harassment and to authorize inquiries to current and former employers regarding findings of sexual misconduct or sexual harassment. For more information, visit Policy on Consideration of Sexual Misconduct in Prior Employment.

As a qualifying federal contractor, the University of Illinois System uses E-Verify to verify employment eligibility.